'Flagrant Violation'

Rusk Protests Refugee Block

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, backed by President Kennedy, Sunday denounced Red closing of the East Berlin border as a "flagrant violation" of Soviet agreements with the Western powers.

The move is being vigorously protested, Rusk said and he warned the Reds indirectly against tampering with the Allied position in West Berlin.

In a statement issued with the approval of President Kennedy, Rusk described the flood of refugees which has been moving through East Berlin into West Berlin as evidence of "the failures of communism in East Germany."

He said East Germany's Red leaders now are trying to overcome such failures "by the dangerous course of threats against the freedom and safety of West Berlin." The threats in turn have stimulated flights from the East, Rusk added.

Rusk worked at his desk in the State Department Sunday morning conferring with Asst. Secretary Foy D. Kohler, director of European affairs and other advisers.

Press officer Joseph Reap told newsmen when he issued the Rusk statement that the United States already has started consultations with the British and French embassies here on the new flareup in the general East-West crisis over Berlin.

Rusk announced that the Communist violation of East-West agreements respecting Berlin "will be the subject of vigorous protest through appropriate channels." Reap said the formal action will be taken by the Western commandants in Berlin in notes directed to the Soviet command there. And a direct protest to the Soviet government at Moscow is not being ruled out.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., President Kennedy received a detailed report on the Berlin developments but the White House had no comment, obviously having determined to direct full attention on the Rusk statement here. Reap said the statement was approved by Kennedy.

U.S. leaders were watching the situation closely but for the moment, pending further developments, saw nothing more they could do about it. Their main concern is that the frustration of would-be refugees on finding themselves bottled up in East Berlin would explode into riotous protests that might precipitate severe military reprisal.

Apparently Rusk concluded that issuance of the statement and other actions taken Sunday morning were all he could do for the time being.

First comment from members of the Senate ran along three lines—the move is a confession of weakness by the Communists; this is only one of many provocations that can be expected in coming weeks and months; the United States should be firm but calm and cautious in its reactions.

Castro Frees Jet Airliner; Move Studied

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's regime hailed Sunday the agreement to return a hijacked Eastn Air Lines Electra to the United States and called for the two countries to coordinate efforts to combat future acts of air or sea piracy.

A Foreign Ministry communique said the agreement — the first between the two countries since Washington severed relations with the pro-Communist Castro government last January — "is a great step forward for repression of these acts of piracy that endanger the lives of Cuban and North American citizens."

The communique also called for a continued exchange of opinions between the two governments aimed at establishing formal agreements for a reciprocal return of hijackers, exchanging hijacked ships and planes and for common antihijacking penalties.

Three Die In Area Crash

Kresgeville Boy Killed

Gary Beers Dies As Car Crashes Tree

GARY BEERS, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Beers of Kresgeville, was fatally injured at 11:30 a.m. Saturday when the car in which he was riding smashed into a tree on Legistate Route 4503, between Effort and Gilbert. His two brothers were seriously injured.

State Police at Fern Ridge identified his brother, Robert, 16, as the driver of the vehicle. Also in the car was another brother, Jeffrey, age six.

Both were reported in guarded condition last night in Monroe County General Hospital. Robert has multiple cuts of the face and chest, a concussion and possible fracture of the left ankle. Jeffrey has a possible skull fracture, broken nose, possible internal injuries and bruises.

Witness Crash

Gary was pronounced dead at the hospital. Cause of death was a fractured skull.

Troopers said the car went off the left side of the highway and crashed into a tree. Witnesses told police the car was not traveling at a high rate of speed.

Gary, a native of Trachsville, is survived, in addition to his parents and brothers, by his maternal grandfather, Robert George of Kresgeville, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Beers, Walnutport.

He was a member of the Lutheran congregation of Jerusalem Union Church, Trachsville.

Services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the church. Viewing will be from 7 to 9 p.m. today at the R. M. James Funeral Home in Palmerton.

'Plastinaut' Dummies For Space Study

ANDREWS AIR FORCE BASE, Md. (AP) — "Plastinaut" dummies will ride the space lanes to help the Air Force determine what radiation dosages human space travelers must take.

Three of the dummies are under construction — at an over-all cost of $35,000 — for delivery late this month to the Air Force Systems Command, it was announced Sunday.

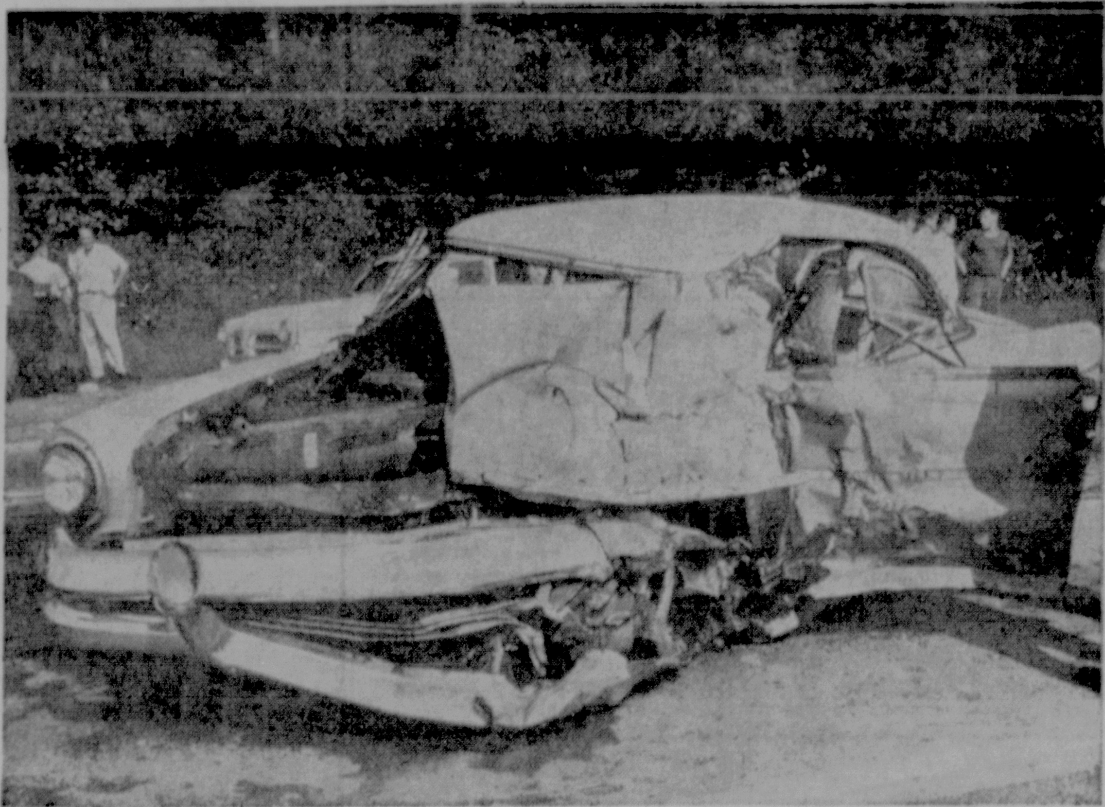

Each plastinaut will be 5 feet, 9 inches tall and will weigh 162 pounds — this being the official average size of all Air Force personnel. They will be made of a rubber-based plastic over a skeletal frame.

Their flesh will be a tissue simulating plastic designed to absorb radiation at approximately the same rate as human tissue. They can be tested in any sort of space vehicle capable of carrying a man.

Telemetering equipment will be built into the plastinauts for in-flight reporting. Further examinations are to be conducted after returns from space flights.

SMASHED HEADON—These are the two autos that were involved in the headon collision on Route 611 on Saturday which claimed three lives. Both vehicles were riding the center lane of a section of three-lane highway when the accident occurred. The car in photo above took the lives of James J. Ludwig and his son Henry, 10, of Kunkletown. Miss Ursula Bollinger, 71, of 1700 Butler St., Easton was killed in the car shown in the photo below. (Photos by Arnold)

Situation Is Very Tense

Angry Berliners, Police Clash As Flow Is Halted

BERLIN (AP) — Clashes between angry demonstrators and police in East Berlin were reported Sunday after Communist East Germany threw up a hastily forged iron curtain to halt the flow of refugees and other East Germans to West Berlin.

On the other side of the border, West Berlin police said crowds of West Germans in an ugly mood had gathered at almost all the 13 crossing points still left open by the Red guards. At one of the main crossing points, Brandenburg Gate, a high West Berlin police officer said the situation was very tense. "It just needs a spark to set the crowd off," he said. "I hope nothing will happen."

Plan Denounced

Western spokesmen denounced the Communist clampdown on the 25-mile border between East and West Berlin as a violation of Big Four agreements for control of this divided city 110 miles inside East Germany. West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt declared: "I do not want to anticipate any decisions (by the Western allies) but protests should no longer be enough. The real test for our people began today."

He called for a boycott in West Germany of all representatives of the East German Communists as a measure of retaliation.

Barbed wire, tanks and hundreds of East German troops and police sealed the border before dawn in response to a directive from the Warsaw Pact nations, led by the Soviet Union.

The effectiveness of these steps to close the escape hatch was noted immediately at the Marienfelde reception center, which has been registering up to 3,000 refugees daily. A spokesman said only 25 or 30 made it across the border Sunday.

Mayor Brandt told newsmen there were growing incidents in East Berlin—a center of the East German workers revolt put down by the Soviet Union in 1953. Heavily armed Communist police went into action against a group of persons protesting the restrictions, he said.

There were demonstrations, too, in West Berlin. Infuriated West Berliners trampled down barbed wire put up in the night by Communists on a street in the French sector.

West Berlin police said they moved in and drove back the mob after East German police started for the demonstrators with Bayonets fixed.

Clampdown On Refugees Worsens Berlin Situation

LONDON (AP) — The British government Sunday night denounced the new Communist restrictions on refugee flights from East Berlin as illegal and said urgent consultations have been opened with other Western powers.

A terse official statement by the Foreign Office said: "The restrictions which have been imposed on movement between East and West Berlin are contrary to the four-power status of Berlin and are therefore illegal."

"Her Majesty's government are urgently considering these developments with other allied governments."

Western diplomatic sources said the East German move makes the Berlin problem potentially more explosive but the situation could be worse. They noted that as yet there has been no Communist tampering with the access routes that by land, water and air link West Berlin with West Germany

Five Hurt In Headon Crash On Route 611

THREE PERSONS were killed and five injured in a headon crash of two cars on Route 611 one-half mile north of Tannersville at 3:30 p.m. Saturday after one of the two cars had sideswiped another vehicle, injuring two persons.

Killed were James J. Ludwig, 42, a construction company employee of Kunkletown, RD 1; his son, Henry, 10, a pupil at Analomink Elementary School, and Miss Ursula Bollinger, 71, manager of the Forest House Hotel, 1700 Butler St., Easton.

State Police at Mt. Pocono said a car driven by Charles F. McBride, 76, owner of the Forest House Hotel, was passing a car driven by H. Kenneth Lee, 23, Stroudsburg, RD 3, sideswiped the Lee vehicle and swerved into the path of the Ludwig car. Lee's car was forced from the road.

McBride was reported in critical condition last night in Monroe County General Hospital where he is being treated for a broken left leg, head injuries and cuts and bruises.

In guarded condition last night were Mrs. Betty Lufwig, 39, broken left ankle, head injuries and cuts and bruises, and Mrs. Mary Laubach, 30, of 13 W. Wilden Dr., Easton, a passenger in McBride's car, admitted for observation.

Mrs. Laubach's husband, Russell, 34, was treated at the hospital for a fractured left wrist, head injuries and cuts and bruises. Their son, Stephen R., two, was admitted to Allentown Hospital in fair condition for observation of head injuries.

Two passengers in the Lee car were treated at Monroe County General and discharged. They were Robert Iglar, 55, of 1745 Douglas Ave., Stroudsburg, possible rib fractures, and his wife, Helen 53, cuts and bruises.

Sails Into Air

Troopers said the impact of the crash of the Ludwig and McBride cars caused Ludwig's vehicle to sail into the air and continue 40 feet south of the crash scene. Both were demolished.

The accident occurred on a three-lane section of the highway with passing permitted in both directions. All three lanes were blocked by the collision.

McBride was taking his passengers for a drive through the Poconos and the Ludwigs were en route home from a huckleberry picking expedition near Tobyhanna.

Ludwig was born in Bushkill, the son of Edward and Lillian Counterman Ludwig.

Ludwig was employed by Eschenbach and Son Contractors and was a member of the CLU Club, Kemp American Legion Post, E. Stroudsburg and Lambert Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stroudsburg.

Victim's Survivors

In addition to his wife, he is survived by three sons, Robert of Stroudsburg, David and Charles, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Ruth Saunders, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Augusta Nace, Delaware Water Gap; Mrs. Ethel Ruth, Stroudsburg, RD 1; and Mrs. Beulah Transue, East Stroudsburg; five brothers, Ernest, Stroudsburg, RD1; Albert, George and Harry, all of East Stroudsburg, and Claude Ludwig, Belvidere, N.J., and two grandchildren.

Joint services for Mr. Ludwig and his son will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Lanterman Funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. today.

Miss Bollinger, a native of Jim Thorpe was the daughter of Anthony and Ursula West Bollinger.

She was affiliated with the Forest House Hotel for 13 years and before that was employed by National Clothing Co., Easton, for 23 years.

Services will be announced by the Katinis Funeral Home, 21st and Northampton Sts., Easton.

Dear Abby

Either Too Hot Or Too Cold

Dear Abby: Last week it was so hot we could hardly stand it, so I asked my husband to please turn off the furnace. He didn't want to do it and said it was on so low that it didn't make any difference. My daughter (who is visiting us with her two babies) finally got him to turn it off.

The next morning the temperature dropped to 50. I wouldn't have said one word about turning the furnace back on had it not been for our two grandchildren, who are five months old and a year and a half. They both had colds, so I begged and pleaded with my husband to turn the furnace back on, and he said he wasn't going to turn it on until next winter. Do you think he was right or was I?

MAD

Dear Mad: You were right. And come next winter give that old mule plenty of heat.

Dear Abby: To the "City Girl" who wrote: "My husband is one of those devoted sons who always DRAGS me to see his parents." It's a shame a woman has to be DRAGGED to visit her in-laws. Can't married couples realize how much they mean to their parents — particularly in their later years? They have very little left in life but their children. So many married children want to "live their own lives," and exclude their parents. If they could only realize how much they owe their parents, and how much happiness they could bring them by being a little more attentive.

Abby, you can reward this, and say it better. I haven't had much education, but I just had to have my say on this subject.

LOOKING AHEAD

Dear Looking: There's no need to reward your letter. You said it well.

Dear Abby: Maybe I should be ashamed to write this letter, but I must have an answer. I am 27 and have been married to a good man for five years. We have two adorable children. Please don't think I'm crazy, but I still undress in the clothes closet. Is there anything wrong with this? My husband has never laughed at me or complained, but I feel so childish. Should I try to get over this inhibition? Or don't you think it matters?

STILL SHY

Dear Still: Since your husband doesn't object, your "problem" exists only in your own mind. Everyone need not shed ALL inhibitions in order to be happy. Keep your skeleton in the closet.

Confidential To Kathy: Forgive him. Who among us doesn't need to be forgiven at least once?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of The Daily Record. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gas Explosion Burns Pen Argyl Man, Boy

PEN ARGYL — Two persons, one a 10-year-old boy were hospitalized Saturday after a gas explosion ripped a house and left it in shambles here.

Injured were Gale Edwards, 32, of 143 Broad St., Pen Argyl, an employee of the Bangor Gas Co., and Donald Riley, 10, of 425 William St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riley.

The two were taken to Easton Hospital by the Wind Gap Fire Company Ambulance after suffering severe burns of the arms, face and neck.

The man and boy were hurled from a house at 425-427 William St., by the blast that moved the two-story, double-frame building off its foundation. The explosion occurred about 3:30 p.m.

Edwards was reportedly checking a leak in the Riley basement when the explosion occurred. Young Riley had accompanied Edwards as they were about to enter the basement of the house. Riley told police that Edwards lit a match just as the youngster was about to open the cellar door. The blast blew off the door.

The double-house was occupied by two families—Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riley and their children at 425 and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shimer at 427 William St. The blast occurred on the Riley side.

Mrs. Riley was on the second floor when the blast took place. Other members of the family were away. Mrs. Riley was not injured.

Eye Witness

The explosion was witnessed by William Savercool, chief of Pen Argyl's Lookout Volunteer Fire Co. Savercool said he heard the blast and saw debris hurled across the street.

A neighbor, Ray Houser, who lives at 421 William St., said the blast bounced him about two feet off the floor. Windows of the Houser house were blown out.

Windows were also blown out of the first and second floors of the Riley home. The front and side doors were ripped off by the blast on the Riley side of the house.

Patches of plaster were torn off the walls and the refrigerator in the Shimer home toppled. The blast also left a six-inch bulge in the rear wall of the house and dislodged the front sun porch of the Riley house.

Police said both the Rileys and the Shimers smelled gas Friday night before retiring. Work has just been completed on a new sewer installation in front of the house and the excavation filled.

The explosion caused a fire in the rafters in the cellar of the Riley house. The flames were quickly extinguished, however, by the Lookout Fire Co.

Savercool said damage was so extensive that no estimate could be made until an investigation is completed by the insurance company. Damage was partially covered by insurance, he said.

Savercool said he was at the corner of William and D St. when he heard the explosion. He said he saw pieces of curtain, wood and window shades flying into the street. He ran to the scene, turned in the fire alarm, and ordered that residents be evacuated from William St., between B and C Sts.

The order was in effect several hours before the residents were given the all-clear sign.

leads 32 Chinese "slaves" to new life

Li Sing-sui led 32 Chinese laborers from Red China's torturous slave farms to Hong Kong. Though they knew they would be joining hundreds of thousands of jobless, destitute refugees, they risked their lives for freedom. Fortunately, they were discovered by the Chuk Yuen Refugee Rehabilitation Program. And they are now self-supporting and building their own terror-free futures.

The Chuk Yuen Center for refugees is a direct result of Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. While this endeavor is Protestant, all three great faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—maintain far-reaching aid and relief programs.

This work goes on, day in and day out... and it must continue. These religion-sponsored programs often are the only hope of survival to countless millions of all ages, colors and creeds. Next time you're asked to support your faith's Overseas Aid Program, remember the needs of others like Li Sing-sui and his friends, who have no other place to turn for help.

Two Treated For Crash Injuries

TWO persons suffered body injuries in a two-car accident on Route 209 near the entrance to Oak Grove House at 9 a.m. yesterday.

State Police of the local barracks identified the drivers as Paul H. Stutzer, 20, Jersey City, N. J., and Joseph B. Harron, 49, Jenkintown.

Harron and his wife, Mildred, 45, were treated at Monroe County General Hospital and released. Damage was estimated at $400 to Harron's car and $300 to Stutzer's.

Stutzer's car was damaged by a tree on the Wooddale Road, one-half mile east of Analomink.

She suffered cuts of the face and forehead and was admitted to Monroe County General Hospital.

Mrs. Fish told State Police of the local barracks she was traveling east when an oncoming car forced her off the right side of the road. The other motorist did not stop. Damage to her car was $800.

Abelloff suffered a cut lip; David Peiffy 18, of 215 S. Fourth St., Bangor, had cuts a head injury and a possible back injury; Susan Britton, 17, of 125 Maple St., Stroudsburg, had cuts and body bruises, and William J. Henigan, 18, of 518 Queen St., Bangor, had cuts.

All were treated at Monroe County General Hospital and all but Peiffy were released. Damage to the 1961 sedan Abelloff was driving was estimated at $2,500.

Two Sides Together -- At Picnic

RONSON Corp. of Pennsylvania and its striking employees put their contract dispute aside Saturday and enjoyed a day of fellowship together.

The occasion was the annual Ronson picnic at Pardee's Beach, near Bushkill, an event which had been scheduled some weeks ago and left unchanged by the walkout of more than 400 cigarette lighter production workers last Friday morning.

Richard Smoke, president Local 1724, International Assn. of Machinists, said last night, said negotiations between company and union were at a standstill over the weekend.

"Our business agent and officials from the International union have notified D. R. Mosier, federal mediator, that the union is ready and willing to meet at anytime Ronson wishes to open talks again."

He added: "Contrary to a broadcast report, the union has not held any meeting with the company since the members went on strike Friday."

Gerald Brodsky, plant manager, confirmed that there had been no meeting between Ronson and the union since last Thursday. He said he did not know when negotiations would be resumed.

Legislators Heading For Adjournment

HARRISBURG (AP)—A splintering drive for adjournment of the 1961 Legislature, limping along since early June, appears ready to gain momentum.

Legislative leaders of both houses dropped broad hints over the weekend they will try to wind up the General Assembly's business this week.

They apparently have decided nothing can be done in the regular session about congressional reapportionment and an expanded educational program.

"I'm going to try to wind it up this week," said Senate Majority Leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Phila.

His counterpart in the House, Rep. Stephen McCann, also was looking to early adjournment, but he held out the possibility the final drive may take two, or even, three weeks.

Dead Issues

In any event it appears that reapportionment and education are dead horses right now.

It seems likely that special sessions, to run concurrent to the constitutionally limited 1962 session, will be held to iron out the two issues.

Congressional reapportionment must be accomplished by mid-February or all 27 of Pennsylvania's congressmen—a drop of three from the current roster because of population shifts—would be elected at large.

Neither party wants that to happen, but neither has one side come up with a redistricting plan anywhere near the ideas of the other.

The education program probably will live or die on a roll call vote expected Tuesday on a once-beaten tax plan—2 per cent on rents, royalties, dividends and capital gains.

The only non-money item in the education package—school district reorganization—probably will be rolled this week.

Most of the other remaining major bills are in the Senate and could be acted upon this week. They include:

Strip Mining—Amended versions of State Mines Department proposal for tightening of strip mine backfilling regulations are on the Senate floor.

SCENE OF TRAGEDY—This was the setting Saturday afternoon shortly after two cars collided almost head-on north of Tannersville on Route 611, killing three persons and injuring seven, including two occupants in a third car which was sideswiped. Both cars shown above were traveling in center lane of three-lane road. Ironically, the accident happened only a short distance east of new four-lane highway now under construction (note cut being made in nearby hillside). Ludwig's car is at left, McBride's at right. ## Internal Matter

This contemptible business of hijacking American airliners has reached such serious proportions that the assignment of U. S. border patrolmen to safeguard the planes is welcome news.

Moving against hijackers isn't easy. It entails much more than putting a gun on them. You don't provoke reckless shooting in a plane in flight, for the safety of scores of passengers would be at stake.

We are glad President Kennedy has ordered protective measures, and we hope they prove adequate. But we are especially gratified that he held his hand until a clear pattern developed for these acts of modern piracy.

The four episodes to date were almost exclusively the work of what the President calls a "lunatic fringe" in the American populace. By no stretch of the imagination can any foreign country be implicated.

Consequently, the problem becomes one of internal policing. It has lost the aspect of an "international incident," which is fortunate.

Subversion Of Spectacles

We wonder if there were any of the "Old Bolsheviks" around to witness the Titov celebration in Moscow. If so did they blink at the extent to which a strange new age has invaded their grim world?

What did they make of scenes which appeared quite natural on American TV screens — the stage-managed spectacle televised for world consumption, the parade in luxurious motorcars, the front-row honoring of wives, the free and easy greetings?

Except for men hugging and kissing other men it could have been an American political rally. How has the Communist state been infiltrated and subverted that it should so imitate the folk ways of capitalism!

Of course we know that the Soviet Union long ago found it useful to adapt the incentive system to its purposes. Indeed, rewards for exceptional effort or talent are often greater than in Britain or America.

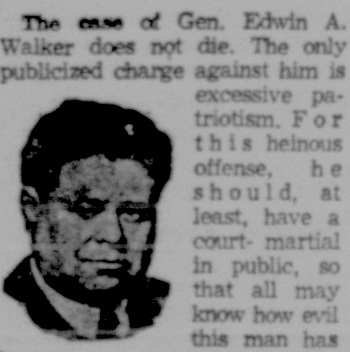

Western women's fashions, even cosmetics, are edging in. And what are the young people coming to, with their craze for jazz and the adoption of Western sports, including subsidized amateurism!

For the Old Bolsheviks the Americanized Titov celebration must have seemed the last step in decadence. The next would be a ticker-tape parade. Only where do they get ticker-tape?

The Walker Case

The case of Gen. Edwin A. Walker does not die. The only published charge against him is excessive patriotism. For this heinous offense, he should, at least, have a court-martial in public, so that all may know how evil this man has been.

grams, he refers. Secondly, how can the inculcation of patriotism interfere with any President's program?

Sen. Thurmond makes the point that the essence of Sen. Fulbright's memorandum is "the philosophy candidly expressed . . . that the American people are not to be trusted with governing themselves, particularly with reference to matters of foreign policy."

War, led to MacArthur's revolt and McCarthyism.

Sen. Fulbright here raises the essential question that faces our nation today: Will Khrushchev drive us into some form of totalitarian government? Will the fear of Soviet Russia force us to give up our constitutional characteristics and adopt some form of dictatorship, whether it be by a Fascist elite group or by Communists?

The distrust of the people by the intellectuals is a normal response to the seriousness of the times which face us, but Sen. Fulbright is wrong, as to date and fact, when he suggests that it was the Korean War which led to the activities of Sen. Joe McCarthy.

What produced McCarthyism is now producing the John Birch Society and other groups, some of them less doctrinaire and less fanatical. It is the growing feeling among large masses of our people that in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations, elements invaded and infiltrated the American government which did not believe in American sovereignty, which did not favor the American economic system, which were so overruled by Soviet Russia's successes that they were prepared to capitulate to Russian policy and purposes. It is ridiculous to discount these popular movements. They are growing rapidly and whether one agrees or disagrees with their program; they are a reflex of a growing public mood of distrust.

Sen. Thurmond says: " . . . unless our most urgent problem is the Communist menace, then truly, there is little need to alert the American public to the menace of the Cold War. The need to give the American people the facts about Communism exists only if Communism is our number one problem. "This (the Fulbright) memorandum states, however, that the principal problem is, and I quote: 'to restrain the desire of the people to hit the Communists with everything we've got, particularly if there are Cubans and Laos.' . . . I have been told by the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs that 'everybody knows the enemy.' "I must be very confused, for I thought the enemy was Communism. I did not realize that, as this memorandum says so bluntly, the American public constitutes the principal problem."

Walking along the Massachusetts coast the other day, Mrs. B. and I met seven red-haired brothers ranging in age from 4 to 11. Amazed at such a fine carrot-topped family, I asked if there were any more at home like them. The youngest piped up, "No more at home except a dog and he's a male."

At first you don't succeed, you are running about average.

The Pennsylvania Story

Ends Home Rule

On the pro side, as argued by the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee for Better Education, is the contention that, for example, in the smallest ten per cent of the school districts, only 34 courses are offered students while in the largest ten per cent, 53 subjects are offered.

Expenditurewise, according to PCCBE people, the average expenditure in the smallest ten per cent of school districts rounds out to around $14 per course per pupil while the largest is about half of that or $7.

On the other hand—and this is the point bothering many a lawmaker who must face his constituents back home—there is the contention that local districts as such virtually lose their autonomy or identity under the school district reorganization proposal.

Legislators say "talk to our local school people—and you will find the opposition amazing and strong in too many cases."

Those fighting for the legislation, in gentle asides, say one of the reasons so many local school boards are against the big district proposal is because "local school board members would lose their jobs."

Insofar as the "loss of jobs" is concerned, school board members by law are prohibited from receiving compensation, (other than the school board secretary).

But even so, there is far more to it than just that.

There is that age-old, battered but nevertheless still critical item of "home rule" involved. Undeniably most of this would be removed one step farther should the school district reorganization program as now envisioned be carried out.

As the legislation now stands in its pending form before the House of Representatives, there is not the slightest indication of "local option" for whether, what or how the local districts involved shall or shall not take part in the larger district programming.

In a final nutshell it would be up to the State Council of Education to make the determination—based on approval or disapproval of reorganization plans submitted exclusively by the individual county board of school directors.

In other words, to all practical intents and purposes, local school boards would cease to exist—functionally, administratively, or in almost any sense in which you wish to look at it.

So much for local school boards—which today serve as the "direct local representative" of the people. School boards are the voice of localities. They are virtually the administrative and jurisdictional end and beginning.

The reorganization plan envisioned in the legislation now pending on the House calendar setting up the 3,000 and 4,000-pupil minimum district eliminates. The voice of the local folks would be stifled.

Nor, within the new school district reorganization plan is there provision for local referendum.

In a battered nutshell, these are some of the facts surrounding House Bill 1836 — which has been hanging on the third and final reading calendar in the House since July 27—and each week passed "over in order" (including the past week) as legislative debate pro and con simmers in the background.

Notes of a Newspaperman

On July 25, 1961 the Associated Press reported: "Two of the five big firms that make polio vaccine have halted production until they can eliminate a monkey virus that turned up in some of their output. This was disclosed today by the U.S. Public Health Service, which stressed that there is no evidence that the virus is dangerous to humans. The PHS said the shutdown in the two plants—which turn out about 25 percent of the nation's vaccine supply—is not expected to create a general shortage of the shots. Vaccine in doctors' hands is not being withdrawn, but the service said all polio vaccine released in the past two months has been tested and only that vaccine free of the virus was released for general use."

To the best of my knowledge—the foregoing, which is a genuine public service, did not arouse denunciation of the Associated Press.

Several years ago on the advice and urging of medical authorities in Michigan we reported that several batches of the new polio vaccine (submitted for testing at the United States Public Health Service) killed many, many monkeys. In addition, we stressed that the injected virus was live when it should have been dead. We urged all concerned to take extreme precautions. Consequently, this reporter became the target for a torrent of vilification from editorialists and others. The denunciations were constant and savage. It required one long, rough year to confirm our story.

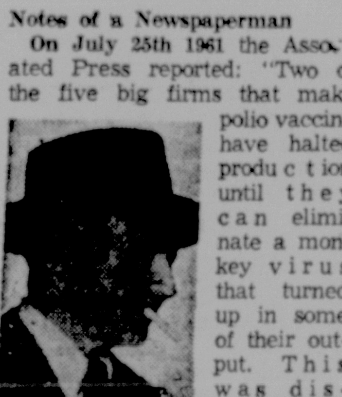

Several weeks ago a teeviot repeated the lie.

The following is for the record. And for historians who might be interested. Our report was confirmed on December 6th 1957 when the Associated Press disclosed: "All of the six drug houses which were licensed to produce polio vaccine two years ago turned out batches containing live virus strains, a government official has reported. The statement was read yesterday from the sworn deposition of Dr. William G. Korkman, former chief of the Laboratory of Biologics Control at Bethesda, Maryland. . . . 'All I knew at the time,' Dr. Korkman testified, 'was that certain children had developed a paralysis in such a way as to indicate that injection of the vaccine was the cause.'"

The fact that youngsters developed paralysis as a result of the live virus polio shots is heart-breaking and inexcusable, since highly reputable medical leaders communicated their fears and warnings through us before the tests began. It was our unpopular duty as a newspaperman to echo their warnings. In retrospect, we can only conclude that it was well worth the ordeal if we helped save one child from the dread affliction.

The Salk polio vaccine is now generally safe and effective, of course. It ranks as one of history's great medical miracles. We trust the part we played in alerting the nation helped make the vaccine safer. Such knowledge gives us deeper satisfaction than the explanations or apologies of those who attacked. We never requested nor expected

The statement was read yesterday from the sworn deposition of Dr. William G. Korkman, former chief of the Laboratory of Biologics Control at Bethesda, Maryland. . . . 'All I knew at the time,' Dr. Korkman testified, 'was that certain children had developed a paralysis in such a way as to indicate that injection of the vaccine was the cause.'"

The fact that youngsters developed paralysis as a result of the live virus polio shots is heart-breaking and inexcusable, since highly reputable medical leaders communicated their fears and warnings through us before the tests began. It was our unpopular duty as a newspaperman to echo their warnings. In retrospect, we can only conclude that it was well worth the ordeal if we helped save one child from the dread affliction.

The Salk polio vaccine is now generally safe and effective, of course. It ranks as one of history's great medical miracles. We trust the part we played in alerting the nation helped make the vaccine safer. Such knowledge gives us deeper satisfaction than the explanations or apologies of those who attacked. We never requested nor expected

Johnson To Visit SA

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — Vice President Lyndon Johnson is to make another goodwill tour—this one to Latin America.

The timing and itinerary of the trip are still incomplete.

But it is slated for the fall, and tentatively will include Mexico, whose President Lopez Mateos is a personal friend of Johnson; Panama, whose President Roberto Chiari, strongly anti-

Castro and pro-U.S., has long been seeking urgently-needed economic aid; Ecuador; Brazil; Argentina; Peru and Chile.

Other countries may be added to this list.

Primary mission of Johnson will be to implement the groundwork laid by Treasury Secretary Dillon for the Administration's Alliance for Progress program at the Inter-American Economic Conference now in progress in Uruguay.

In Johnson's preparatory discussions at the White House and State Department, much emphasis is being placed on the vital importance of impressing Latin American authorities with the crucial necessity of their taking the leadership in efforts to help their countries.

The U.S. stands ready to assist as much as possible with plans, technical and funds. But the main and sustained impulse and means must come from these countries themselves.

If they lack the genuine will to solve their many economic and social problems, the U.S. can do little for them.

Heavily underscoring these basic points is a State Department report showing that in the past 15 years the U.S. has poured $4.447 billion in aid into Latin America, and $2.7 billion in loans of which $1.689 billion is still outstanding.

The little-known totals prove conclusively that this country has not "ignored" its southern neighbors — despite critical cries to the contrary.

The State Department compilation discloses that every one of the 21 Latin American countries has received considerable U.S. economic and military aid and credits. In some instances, this ran into hundreds of millions of dollars.

The Unknown Details—Vice President Johnson will be armed with these highly impressive unpublished facts when he makes his goodwill tour.

They tell a striking story, and also raise embarrassing questions — such as what was done with these huge sums and why more hasn't been accomplished in raising the economic and social level of the great mass of people in these countries.

But the State Department study does conclusively answer one challenge, particularly from Communist sources: That until Cuba fell under Red control, the U.S. was indifferent to Latin America. The following detailed figures refute that decisively:

	Fiscal Year 1954 Through Fiscal 1961	Economic Aid	Military Aid
Argentina	$604.2 mil.	1.4 mil.	4.2 mil.
Bolivia	191.2 mil.	5 mil.	5 mil.
Brazil	1,224.4 mil.	152.5 mil.	5 mil.
Chile	824.4 mil.	29.7 mil.	5 mil.
Colombia	223.8 mil.	25.7 mil.	5 mil.
Costa Rica	65.7 mil.	10.6 mil.	5 mil.
Cuba	65.7 mil.	10.6 mil.	5 mil.
Dom. Rep.	2.7 mil.	8.1 mil.	5 mil.
Ecuador	66.7 mil.	17.5 mil.	5 mil.
El Salvador	8.9 mil.	1.5 mil.	5 mil.
Guatemala	115.9 mil.	1.5 mil.	5 mil.
Haiti	74.9 mil.	8.5 mil.	5 mil.

In the past 15 years, Brazil received $1,020 billion in loans and still owes $589 million; Mexico $410 million, of which $201 million is still outstanding; Chile $250 million, of which $152 million is still unpaid; Colombia $220 million, of which $138 million is still owing; and Peru $202 million, of which $166 million is unpaid.

Red Sparks — The Soviet embassy in Washington is fixing traffic violation tickets for Red correspondents. The embassy is claiming diplomatic immunity for the newsmen, although they are not entitled to it. The D.C. police say no other foreign embassy is doing this. So far they have allowed the Russians to get away with it.

The Kremlin is heavily pressuring Finland to recognize East Germany. That's what our Ambassador in Finland has cabled the State Department. He has definitely asserted that the Soviet is "insisting" Finland establish diplomatic ties with the East German satellite before the end of this year. Finland doesn't want to do that, but may not be able to withstand Moscow's pressure.

Fidel Castro has named an island near the Bay of Mariel in Pinar Del Rio, western province of Cuba, the "Island of Lenin." It's to be a vacation resort for "workers and peasants."

A number of Cuban militiamen wounded in the abortive invasion last April have been taken to Czechoslovakian and East German hospitals for medical treatment, which they were unable to get at home. In the past year medical facilities have greatly deteriorated in Cuba as a result of the flight of hundreds of doctors and nurses, and the lack of replacements for work-out equipment.

Inside You And Yours

Ulcer Trouble

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

You have to give up irritating alcohol, tobacco and spices if you are plagued with a peptic ulcer. For alcohol, tobacco and spices whip up stomach acid production — acid that burns through stomach — intestine lining to carve out tiny sores.

Normally, a shiny mucous coat protects the lining. When this slimy shield can't hold back rivers of acid, an ulcer mushrooms. It grows as fresh acid eats away its sides and bottom.

Anxious tension often triggers nerves that whip up acid production. Acid pours out angrily when irritating foods grate against stomach lining.

Help From Food

Creamy foods neutralize acid, soothe pain and help ulcers heal. Six daily meals guarantee some pain-relieving food in the stomach all day.

But no raw fruits or vegetables! They grate against stomach lining.

A half-milk half-cream mixture can neutralize acid and relieve that gnawing ulcer. So can milky antacids like aluminum hydroxide.

The surgeon can also help scoured ulcers stopping up the intestine, cooing blood continually, or pain without let-up. He cuts away all acid-stimulating nerve fibers as well as bypassing any block or removing most of the stomach.

But no operation cures that mental stress which exploded into rivers of ulcer-gnawing acid. The real trouble can't be cut out on the operating table. It has to be talked out on the psychiatrist's couch!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Before we leave for the convention of the Legion of Valor in Miami Beach, Fla., later this month, we would like to take this means of thanking everyone who contributed to our making this trip.

This of necessity includes the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Society of the 28th Division and Veterans of World

But it also includes numerous persons who purchased tickets for the dinner and who assisted in its preparation and serving. Col. Lester W. Kale and the Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot also merit special mention.

To all who contributed, thanks very much.

Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

The newly appointed Federal Communications Chairman recently made a controversial speech before the National Assn. of Broadcasters in which he criticized television programming as a "vast wasteland" and warned "there is nothing permanent or sacred about a broadcast license."

Subsequently, the House of Representatives killed the President's plan to reorganize the FCC, and a Senate Subcommittee held hearings on the relationship, if any, between TV crime programs and juvenile delinquency.

This quiz tests your knowledge of the role of Government in the television industry. Try for four correct answers.

Q—The current FCC chairman is (a) Newton N. Minow; (b) Paul Rand Dixon; (c) William L. Cary?

A—(a). Dixon is chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and Cary is chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The FCC is composed of seven members; no more than four can be of the same political party. Appointments are made by the President for seven-year terms.

Q—True or false: The FCC licenses television networks?

A—False. The FCC licenses only individual stations. Minow recently advocated legislation to provide for "direct regulation of network policies, practices and activities which could adversely affect the ability of broadcast licensees to operate their stations in the public interest."

Q—True or false: Educational television is assisted by

If the ulcer still cries for help, your doctor will prescribe medicines to paralyze those acid-stimulating nerves. Tranquilizers, sedatives and psychiatrists can often soothe the other end of these irritated nerves.

If the ulcer bores through the intestinal wall or a large blood vessel—starting a gushing hemorrhage—you'll need emergency surgery.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

How many of us, I wonder, sometime on Saturday night groped around for the extra blanket for the first time this Summer, pulled it up and went back to the soundest sleep in weeks? Waking to sunshine and a certain crystalline bite to the air, everybody seemed refreshed and raring to go.

It was certainly no day for bad news, which is all there seemed to be. The office was deep in fatal accidents, injuries and the sealing of the Berlin borders. Sorrow, fear and tension seemed somehow so remote as if death should have declared a holiday and people could say "This is the way life ought to be".

That's what the guests were saying at the Hintze's yesterday afternoon with the river serene and reflecting green trees, blue sky and just enough high clouds to add variety.

Even more than the cheese fondue, the shrimp and the avocado dip, they seemed to enjoy the reunion with friends. Preoccupied with personal problems — visiting relatives, resort activities, golf or gardening — somehow the summer slips by and you don't realize how much you've missed them until suddenly there they are!

VI Jones was out of the wheelchair and on crutches, which she manages with an inimitable flourish. Bob Schell is getting ready to leave for San Antonio, with Betty still basking in her golf score at Shawnee the other day.

Underneath there was a little undercurrent of club talk — of executive board meetings, and year-book committees. One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one cool day doesn't get everybody in the mood for work — but there's a hint in the air that we're almost ready to start thinking about getting ready. Do you realize it's only three weeks from today until Labor Day?

Job-Hunting Campaign For The Older Woman

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

I'm forty-five, and I get an inferiority complex every time I look for a job," a woman told me yesterday.

"Frankly, whenever I see those chic young girls sitting next to me, applying for the same job, I'm ready to give up and go home.

"What do you think older women can do to compete with something like this?"

Don't Compete

On the whole, the smartest thing to do is to rule out altogether even trying to compete. Instead, work at being what you are in the very best way you can!

Begin doing this by realizing, once and for all, that at forty-five you can't even expect to have the same fresh, dewy-eyed appearance that you had at twenty. But neither — at twenty — can you have the experience and maturity you have at forty-five.

Convince Employers

So don't undersell those twenty-five years. Make them an asset, instead. If women will really work at this, more employers may be convinced!

Next, make it a habit during your job-hunting campaign — and ever after — to show that you're completely flexible in your approach to office procedure. Far too many employers today regard the older woman as too set and unbending in her ways.

Finally, package yourself smartly and attractively, so that you look right up to the minute instead of like a has-been.

Lose Weight

For example, if you've been traveling around with excess weight (and both you and your doctor know you can lose it) spend two or three months taking off the pounds before you start out.

Consider the best hair stylist in your community a luxury you must afford for your job-hunting dates. This is important in these times when a smart hairdo often takes the place of a hat and when the Chances are you'll be able to get one, too—even at forty-five. For, despite the fact that your appearance alone (without other qualifications) will never get you a job, the package that you come in—along with your attitude—can work for you at forty-five as well as it did at twenty.

New Type Of Club Women Swing Along With Men

By JOY MILLER (AP Women's Editor)

New York (AP)—Since prehistoric times men have been showing off their prowess with clubs. Now that they're somewhat civilized they're doing it on the golf course — and women, who covered in caves in the old days, are swinging right along with them.

Alex O'Laughlin, who has taught at least a thousand women in the 10 years he's been a pro golfer, says they're easier to teach than men.

"They grasp the fundamentals faster," he says.

Also in their favor: "They have respect for 150-yard tee shots straight down the fairway. Men always try to blast long, long drives, and may or may not end up hooking out of bounds.

"Women are optimistic; they are always mourning over their bad ones.

"Furthermore, most women are better putters."

No faults at all, eh? O'Laughlin, a short, pink-faced young Irishman with sun-whitened hair and brows, admits he's noticed a few since he's been instructing at a Lake Tannam resort in upstate New York during the summer and in Westchester County, N.Y., in winter.

For one thing, women are always telling him how their husbands or relatives said they should do it.

"No husband should teach his wife to play golf any more than he should teach her how to drive a car," O'Laughlin says firmly.

And then there is that dubious foursome: Fairway Femme Fatal: She believes in tee for two, shows up geared for conquest in either bikini or tight pants, high heels and dangling earrings.

(O'Laughlin recommends sturdy shoes, Bermuda shorts or culottes, loose blouse for easy arm movement.)

Chick In The Rough . . . She's always out there in no-man's-land looking for a lost ball, inevitably her favorite, that she simply won't go off and leave.

Green Gauge Prone . . . Like a confused pedestrian she always stops on the green. The putting over, she calls the girls for a huddle, scorecard rendering, congratulations all round, rule book consultation and discussion of how far to the next tee. Meanwhile, the players behind are quietly gnawing their club shafts.

The Divot Dervish . . . Always in motion, she is especially adept at sudden movements just as someone else tees off. And she always knows a rib-tickler to recite on the putting green.

Actually, says O'Laughlin, most women are more thoughtful than men on the links. They're often too concerned about what others are thinking of their game.

"Women should remember form means nothing. If you hit the ball good, you'll look good. You can't think of one thing and do another. It's better to think about nothing. That's when you get the best shots."

Walter Logan Offers Customers Years Of Experience

Logan's Store Specializes In Framing, Art Supplies

TEN YEARS' experience and a flair for making the simplest painting or print appear more beautiful, have gone into Stroudsburg's newest business venture — Walter Logan's Picture Framing and Art Materials Store at 515 Main Street. For Walter, the store is the culmination of a long, persistent dream. To his many friends and customers, it is the fulfillment of a deep necessity in an art-conscious area.

Logan is being assisted in his new enterprise by his wife, Elsie, a radio personality whose program, "Elsie Logan Presents —" is featured each Friday at 11:55 a.m. on WVPO. Since she herself is an artist, it was only natural that her husband should begin making frames for her work years ago at their home in New York and Tannersville.

Word of his skill spread; so did the demand for his services. Soon he had a new career and, ten years ago, he became associated with A. B. Wyckoff as head of a picture framing and artists' supplies store.

Since then he has made custom frames for most of the leading artists in and around the Poconos, and has designed special frames for plaques presented to the Eisenhower by a celebrated Monroe County entertainer, for their home in Gettysburg.

The Logan store is one of the airiest, most attractive in the Stroudsburg business district. Walls are covered with cool, pastel-tinted pegboards, upon which is a lavish assortment of standard frames in all price ranges. There is also an extensive selection of mouldings and mats for custom-made frames.

Actually, custom framing constitutes most of the firm's business for, as Logan explains, "When an artist puts his finest talents into a painting, he owes it to himself to choose a moulding of just the right width, style, and color to enhance his work." This is equally true of the cherished keepsake photograph or print. "Anything worth framing is worth framing well," Logan theorizes, and Elsie agrees, from the standpoint of a homemaker with definite ideas about decor.

Both Logans feel too, that even the novice at art also owes it to himself to use quality materials. Accordingly, the display shelves in the Logan Store are heavily laden with oils, oil sets, stretched canvases, canvas boards, brushes, etc., bearing such distinguished names as Grumbacher, Bocar, Bellini, and Weber.

Another feature of the store is the Logan Art Gallery, occupying the two front walls. Here is hung the work of many of the artists with whom Walter has been associated through the years as friend, supplier, and fellow member of various local art groups. An invitation has gone out to these organizations inviting other members to exhibit, and it is planned to change the pictures every two weeks.

Both Walter and Elsie invite all who love art, either as hobbyists or serious painters, to visit the store, daily 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Fridays, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. For a casual "telephone visit," the number is HA 1-0845.

Now Is The Time To Repair Your Home Heating Plant

MODERNIZATION of the heating system is the answer to sluggish heat, higher than normal fuel bills, and uneven heat distribution, Robert H. Collins, manager of D. Katz & Son Plumbing & Heating Dept. points out.

It is during the summer months that the overhauling of the home heating plant can be carried on with the minimum of interferences with family routine.

Hundreds of home heating plants, Collins points out, are still limping along with systems originally made for solid fuel. The entire system can be given a lift by a new unit designed especially for modern fuels.

Fuel economy, more room, and better appearance to say nothing of better heating will result from this change, Collins adds.

Revolutionary changes have been made in heat distributors. Available for replacing old-style radiators are inconspicuous baseboards which provide a high degree of comfort by heating the lower part of the room and blanketing outside walls with a curtain of warmth.

Also available are streamlined convectors with attractive modern lines which can be installed free-standing or recessed.

The difficulties which homeowners have with many heating systems can be corrected by better thermostatic control.

If you desire a free estimate on repair or replacement of your present heating system, call D. Katz & Son's plumbing and heating division.

Morman Offers Timely Tips On Smart Uses For Vinyl

HERE are a few ideas from L. V. Morman and Son that will make your home more livable and make some of your belongings last longer.

Have a picnic table? A top made from vinyl or one of the other longer wearing floor coverings will keep the top like new and make it easy cleaning.

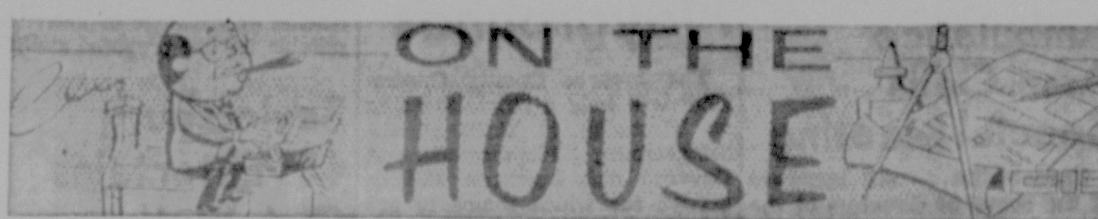

... the same goes for the bench area of the table, too! Line your car trunk with a piece of the same — it cleans easy and keeps your floor mat in the trunk from being ruined by oily or dirty articles.

Shelves can be protected by a piece of linoleum and the lower shelves inside your metal sink cabinet will stay newer, longer, if you cover them.

The cost of doing these and many other little jobs is negligible and they'll last longer, too!

Smart homemakers, hotel, motel owners and businessmen all over the area, are looking to L. V. Morman and Son for the proper floor and wall-coverings. Over 34 years experience are behind every job and every piece of goods sold at Morman's. Visit their store at 326 Main St. for the "Largest Selection of Wall and Floor Coverings in Monroe County!"

IN THEIR own way, manufacturers use as much artistry in the creation of a paint brush as violin makers do in the construction of that classic instrument.

Fortunately, one need not be a Jascha Heifetz to wield a paint brush skillfully. Good results can be obtained by giving careful attention to certain fundamentals.

We asked the American Brush Manufacturers Association to tell us some of the so-called "tricks of the trade" — the little things that the professional painters do to get first - class results. The first bit of advice concerned the start of a paint job: apply the paint in spots first before spreading it out with the brush. After applying a sizable dab to the surface, use long, smooth strokes to level. Once the paint is distributed over an area, finish up with short, choppy, zig - zag strokes to remove tell - tale marks.

Always remember to brush toward a previously painted area. While the temptation may be to stroke away from the fresh paint, because it makes the job seem quicker, a better effect is obtained by working into the paint.

rather than away from it. Watch a professional painter and see how he does this every time.

Amateurs have a habit of dipping the brush too deeply. A good way to remember the right dip level - about halfway up the brush - is to put a lipstick mark which is clearly visible.

Proper cornering is another test of the painting pro. The temptation here is to use the side of the brush to reach narrow areas. Use a narrower brush instead to prevent "fingering." That's a term for a brush whose bristles are weakened at the sides through such misuse.

Don't use a wide wall brush to stroke the surface of a pipe or other narrow curved surface, such as the coils of a radiator. Use a one - inch to two - inch brush instead. One way to tell if the brush you're using is too wide is to see whether it "fish-tails." That's when a brush parts in the middle, producing "fish-tails" at either corner.

That narrow brush also will come in handy when the window sash has its face - lifting turn. Here is one case where the brush

Filtered Air By Carrier Adds Luxury To Home Life

THE CURTAINS are new, the walls repainted, the furniture done over. Mrs. Doe sits down to admire and pretty soon grins her teeth as she watches the soot and dust from outdoors settle in a fine unattractive film over all.

O.K. WITH LATEX

Because they are thinned with water, exterior latex house paints can be applied over damp surfaces. This means that it is possible to paint a short time after a shower. In addition, the fast drying quality of these paints—one-half to two hours—means that sudden rains are less likely to spoil the job.

She dusts, closes the windows and again sits to admire. Pretty soon the air makes her feel as though she were sealed in an old empty coffee can sitting in the sun.

There is a solution available to homeowners who find that fresh, clean, properly moist air doesn't necessarily come with lots of windows.

Air conditioners clean as well as cool the air that comes in.

Dusting, washing woodwork, cleaning drapes, carpets and furniture are all cut down when it is possible to keep the windows closed and still breathe. Savings on cleaning bills will make a good payment on the cost of the conditioner.

Air conditioning and circulation has become a year-round accessory for those with home humidity problems, sinus troubles, allergies or hay fever.

Present day Carrier Weather-makers are compact enough to fit in a closet... and they not only bring clean, filtered air into your home, but heat it as well.

The Carrier Weathermaker is sold, installed and serviced by Lawton Huffman, Craigs Meadows.

Troop B Marks End Of Training

OFFICERS and enlisted men of Troop B, 9th Cavalry, U. S. Army Reserve, Stroudsburg, entertained their wives and sweethearts at a party Saturday night celebrating the return from two weeks' annual training.

The reception was held on the property of Charles Wilkinson, commanding officer of the unit, Henryville.

More than 75 men and women gathered in the reception room where a three-piece orchestra played for both round and square dancing.

During the reception a buffet luncheon was served. The food had been prepared by the unit's cooks.

Duty-Free Goods Lowered To $100

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed a bill which permits U. S. travelers abroad to bring home duty-free no more than $100 worth of goods on which tariffs are levied.

Ever since 1948, the duty-free allowance had been $500.

The new law, which Kennedy sought to improve the U. S. balance of payments position, goes into effect in 30 days. It will remain in force two years until June 30, 1963.

Because Congress delayed in passing the measure, many summer tourists will get by under the old $500 exemption.

The new law does not restrict the amount of goods an American may bring home from his travels abroad. But he now must pay the regular tariff on the value of goods in excess of the $100 exemption.

The Guildford Cathedral, begun in 1936, is the first Anglican cathedral to be built on a new site in the Surrey area of England since the Middle Ages.

John Yenchko Named President

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—John Yenchko, Pittsburgh consultant, was elected president Thursday of the Pennsylvania Water Pollution Control Commission.

Thomas Iezzi of Bristol was chosen first vice president at the organization's 33rd annual conference here. Arthur F. Lehmann of the state Health Department in Harrisburg, was elected second vice president. James R. Harvey of Meadville was reelected secretary-treasurer.

DARKENED AREAS along the upper Eastern Seaboard outline cities and environs where a growing supermetropolitan area with 31.5 million inhabitants is forming, according to the 1960 census of population compiled by the Bureau of Census. Population concentration stretches through 10 northeastern and Middle Atlantic states from New Hampshire to Virginia. It includes Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as well as 35 other large central cities within the 31 contiguous metropolitan areas. (AP Map)

Poconos Ideally Situated

THE Pocono Mountains are centrally located with respect to the vast and growing supermetropolis reported yesterday by the U. S. Census Bureau as extending without a break from Southern New Hampshire to Northern Virginia. The area has a population of 31½ million.

The Poconos are located on the northwestern line of the supermetropolitan area, almost midway between Boston and Washington, and are within easy driving distance of any point in the heavily populated region.

The supermetropolis crosses the boundaries of 10 states and the District of Columbia.

It contains 17.5 percent of the nation's population, accounts for 19.3 percent of all retail sales and is responsible for 22.6 percent of all manufacturing activity.

Between the censuses of 1950 and 1960, the population of the supermetropolitan complex increased by 15.7 percent—from 27,200,723 to 31,469,488.

About a sixth of the 21,781,000 Iranians are seminomadic tribesmen— notably Kashgai, Lur, Kurd and Bakhtiari.

Chrysler Execs At Tamiment

FIVE chartered planes landed at Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport yesterday, bringing Chrysler-Plymouth Division executives of the Chrysler Corp. to Tamiment for a three-day meeting.

The groups were transported from the airport at Catasauqua to Tamiment in chartered buses. The five chartered flights were in addition to 13 regular airlines flights into the airport, all of which were used by Chrysler-Plymouth personnel.

More than 450 field sales and service representatives of the division from throughout the United States will participate in the business meeting, first of its kind since the recent consolidation of the company's Chrysler and Plymouth divisions.

A first look at the 1962 Plymouth, Valiant, Chrysler and Imperial automobiles will highlight the full-scale national meeting. In addition, the field force will receive details of sales, advertising, sales promotion and merchandising programs for the division's four full lines of 1962 cars.

C. E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Corp. and general manager of the Chrysler-Plymouth division, heads the executive team at the Tamiment gathering, which closes with a special business management program Wednesday.

Work Starts On Building Earth Dams

NEWFOUNDLAND—Work on a five-year project to construct 16 earthen dams in the Wallenpack Creek watershed is under way.

Plans for the dams—designed to prevent a repetition of the disastrous 1955 flood—were worked out by soil conservation districts in Wayne, Pike and Monroe Counties, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the Pennsylvania Dept. of Forests and Waters.

The dams, when completed, will have cost an estimated $2,557,674. In addition, land treatment procedures to help control runoff and soil erosion will cost an additional $322,111. Most of the $2,879,785 total bill will be financed by the federal government.

Experts predict that the system, when completed, will eliminate 88 per cent of the annual flood damage. For every dollar spent on construction, $1.70 in returns will be realized, they say.

The 1955 flood took 11 lives in the Greentown, Newfoundland and South Sterling area and property damages were estimated at $1,435,410.

Currently under construction is a small dam on Manny's Run along Route 196. Bids were sought recently on another dam, the largest of the 16, which will be built at LaAnna on Taylor Creek.

Glider Pilot Misses Goal For Distance

NEWFOUNDLAND—When Gordon Oates of Toronto, Canada, left Brantford, Ont., at 11:30 a.m. yesterday, he never expected to pay an unscheduled visit to this Pocono Mountains community.

However, he and his glider came down unheralded in a field at the rear of Holdrens Garage in the heart of Newfoundland at 6 p.m.

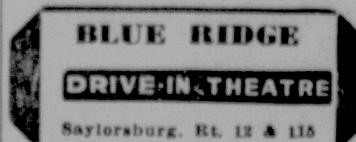

Oates was aiming at a FIA international certificate by making a distance flight from Brantford to Hamlen Airport, East Stroudsburg.

He was just under the required distance of 500 kilometers or 311 miles when he was forced to land here.

There was no damage to the glider and the pilot was not hurt. Oates telephoned Binghamton, N.Y., and arranged to be picked up here by a trailer to return the glider.

Oates has been a licensed glider pilot for six years.

Architects predict that the cathedral now being built at Liverpool will be the last in Great Britain to be constructed entirely of stone. Each piece of local rose-red sandstone used in the Liverpool Cathedral must be carefully carved and fitted into place.

Changing Stock Registration

By William A. Doyle

Q. I started buying stocks when I was a working girl. Naturally the stocks were registered in my maiden name. Now that I am married, should I have these stocks registered in my married name? If so, how should I go about it? Will there be any charge?

A. This is an optional sort of thing. You don't have to change the registration on the stock. But most women do. It's considered the desirable thing to do. Among other things, it keeps peace in the house.

This change in registration is a relatively simple thing. Endorse the stock certificate as it is now registered, with "now known as (your married name)" added.

For instance, say your maiden name was Mary Jones and your stock was registered in that name and you have married John Smith. Endorse the stock certificate as "Mary Jones, now known as Mary Smith."

Have your signature guaranteed by either a brokerage house or a commercial bank. Send the certificate, by registered mail, to the transfer agent for the stock. The transfer agent will send a certificate registered to you as Mary Smith.

You won't have to pay any transfer taxes or transfer fees, because this is not a transfer of ownership.

Some people have their bank or brokerage firm handle all these details for them. If you do that, you may have to pay a minor service fee. But you will not have to pay a commission.

Q. I bought some shares of Cuban-Venezuelan Oil Voting Trust a couple of years ago. This stock was listed on the American Stock Exchange but I never see it quoted there any more. What's the trouble?

A. The trouble is spelled C-u-s-t-o-m. When that bearded dictator took over the government in Cuba, he started kicking American investors smack in the pocket-book.

The Cuban-Venezuelan Oil Voting Trust story is somewhat involved. But its chief cause of grief came when the Communist-orientated Cuban government refused to extend its concession to explore for oil.

That just about wrecked this outfit. The stock's price dropped. You won't find the shares quoted on the American Stock Exchange, because this stock was de-listed from that exchange, as of Dec. 1, 1960.

Technically, it is still possible to buy and sell these shares in the over-the-counter market. But you'll be lucky if you can get 10 cents a share.

Q. I overheard a man who seemed to know what he was talking about say that, when a stockholder dies, there is considerable difficulty settling his estate — if he owns stocks of companies which are incorporated in states other than the state in which the deceased stockholder lived. Is this true?

A. Considerable difficulty, no. Some minor extra paperwork, perhaps — depending upon the laws of various states. You had better stop eavesdropping or else only cock your ears toward people who really know what they are talking about.

Wheat Quota Vote Aug. 24

WHEAT producers will vote Aug. 24 on whether marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1962 wheat crop, Howard R. Porter, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded growers yesterday.

Quotas for the crop were proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture May 12, but setting of the referendum date was deferred, pending action to provide an improved wheat program for the crop.

All eligible producers are being encouraged to participate in the referendum.

If the quotas are approved by at least two-thirds of the farmers who vote in the Aug. 24 referendum, cooperators will be eligible for 1962 wheat price support at a level to be determined later.

If quotas are not approved by the necessary percentage of votes, there will be no limit on marketings, and price support—at 50 per cent of parity—will be available to those farmers who comply with their acreage allotments.

Ballots will be cast at the West End Fire House, Brodheadsville. The polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m.

No Ties With Outer Mongolia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has decided not to set up diplomatic relations with Outer Mongolia at this time, the State Department has announced. The department said that, "In view of the existing world situation, it is in the best interests of the United States to suspend further exploration of that matter at this time."

Outer Mongolia lies between the Soviet Union and Red China in Asia. Its government is Communist.

The possibility of recognizing Outer Mongolia has been widely discussed within the Kennedy administration since it took office in January.

Those supporting the move contended that establishment of a U.S. Embassy in Outer Mongolia could provide a highly useful U.S. listening post deep inside Communist territory.
